

Join the most exciting mobile data pioneers in Africa and help us create a data-driven marketplace, opening up opportunities for Africans.

Jumo is a mobile money marketplace for African people, small businesses and mobile network operators. Our first product connects investors with borrowers, using a data driven system to determine the best rates and the best loan candidates – creating a better deal for both sides

We're looking for the world's most talented Treasury Analyst to join us and help to solve a challenging set of problems in a space packed full of opportunities. Help us power Africa's future, today.

A new role within the Treasury team has opened up. This person will be responsible for ensuring that the business has sufficient liquidity across all portfolios as well as playing an integral part of rolling out a hedging strategy to mitigate the businesses' currency risk within Africa.

Key responsibilities

- Produce daily dashboards on current liquidity levels across all products.
- Ensure that adequate liquidity levels are maintained within bank and mobile product accounts.
- Execute transfers between mobile product accounts.
- Assist the Head of Treasury in producing and tracking cash flow forecasts across all entities.
- Assist the Head of Treasury with implementing currency hedging strategies across all entities.
- Produce monthly treasury reporting for management packs for distribution to shareholders.
- Calculate interest and financial covenants for debt instruments.
- Consolidate information from various sources for reporting and analysis.

Skills and competencies

- Bachelor's Degree in Business/Finance or Accounting
- Minimum 2 years relevant experience
- Experience with dealing with multiple currencies advantageous
- Strong analytical and creative problem solving skills
- Advanced Excel
- Solution and goal orientated
- Deadline driven and ability to work in a high growth dynamic environment
- Impeccable attention to detail

To apply, please send an email to contact@jumo.world

Please note: If you have not had a response from us in 2 weeks, please consider your application unsuccessful.